ROVER REPORT

The weather was nice today so Shiloh couldn't wait to get going, her hard work on self control is paying off and she sat patiently while I put her lead on –clever girl!

After a total sniff-a-thon at the park we practiced our stay and as you can see from the photo Shiloh did a great job, even with lots of distractions!

A tennis ball is definitely Shiloh's ultimate reward and we had lots of fun and games practicing our manners - asking nicely for the ball every time, lying down waiting patiently and coming back really fast for the next throw. Shiloh has almost finished training me how to throw the ball properly (although it's still a work in progress)!

No need for a towel dry, we just missed the rain. Shiloh was pretty tired when we got back and settled down happily with her Kong.

See you tomorrow for more fun and games!
